Good News...

Around the World

Marley's dad is from St. Lucia and he has lots of family still living there. Marley has visited St. Lucia twice, once when he was 18 months old and again when he was 3 and a half. He was going again in March for a family funeral but this got cancelled because of the current situation. They are hoping to go again next year all being well. Marley's grandma sometimes speaks to him in French, he can understand a little bit but doesn't speak it.

The two pictures are Marley and his older sister (left) and Marley, his sister and cousins who live over there.

Ruby has chosen some of her favourite animal pictures for the around the world topic. Here is what she says about her trip to South Africa:

"I loved feeding the giraffes, lion cubs and elephants (one naughty elephant splashed me with water when I was stroking it's leg!)"

We were staying in Johannesburg with mummy's friends. One of them went to school so I got to see how different their schools are! They teach lessons in English and Afrikaans! There were lots more children at their schools too.

It was very hot there and we spent a lot of time watching animals on safari and in the animal parks.

Lilli made paella with her brother in law, Simon - prawns, chicken and chorizo, she enjoyed eating it as well!

Mrs Mason's tea, sticky chilli honey chicken stir fry.

Can you work out who this is dressed up from as part of a Mexican festival?

Annabelle wanted to take part in the round the world task to mark her relatives who live in Sydney Australia. So we made Anzac biscuits. These iconic biscuits were originally made to send to the ANZACs (Australian and New Zealand Army Corps) serving in Gallipoli and are still a popular oatly biscuit down under! Here are some pictures of Annabelle making these and we have all enjoyed eating them.

Amelia and Lillian making American pancakes.

Here is a photo of Esther, who is enjoying learning along with her friends who are at school about 'Around the World'. Here she is helping me make a Thai Green Chicken Curry. (obviously being the Tinkers the learning had to revolve around food to a certain extent!) We're enjoying finding places on our globe at home, and we're learning about African animals too (not the most logically planned lessons at the moment I'm afraid, it was all a bit dependent on what was in the fridge and what looked fun on Twinkl!). Tomorrow we're hoping to start making a big model of a baby elephant.

Joe's Mexican fajitas.

Here are some pictures from Harrison's pasta bake and pizza making.

Isaac has been studying Mexico too!

Some of Miss Sutcliffe's neighbours.

Miss Sutcliffe sent us a photo of her tea, sadza. She tells me that sadza is traditionally eaten by hand and dipped in gravy, but she likes to eat hers with a knife and fork.
