Good News...

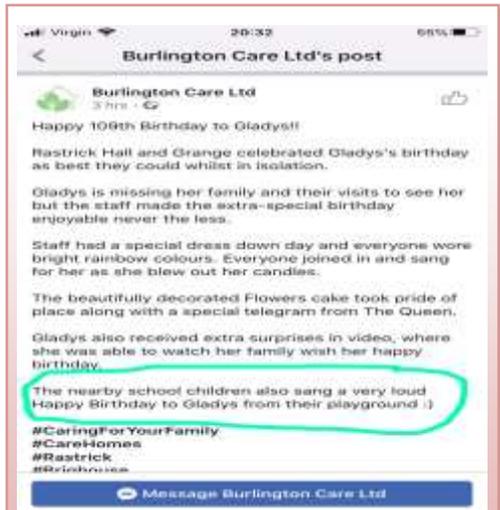

This week we remember the end of the war in Europe in May 1945, 75 years ago. Children in school and at home have been making videos, designing cards, making and creating bunting.

Children in school this week have been getting ready for #VEDay75

Someone who will remember #VEDay75 will be Gladys from Rastrick Grange. This week our children sang over the phone to her and posted a card which is pictured above.

Emily is all ready for #VEDay75

Harry has done some random facts about WW2.

A small selection of the letters children sent to local businesses last week thanking them for continuing their work during the pandemic.

Acts of kindness

We've been asking children on the VLE for their acts of kindness, so far only staff have replied so come on children!

Esther K has done a lovely poster about VE Day

Diary of a Soldier by Esther-Joy Stone

Dear diary,

We've done it! We've won the war! As I listen to the only voice I've wanted to hear since the war announce our victory, I leap with joy, whilst wincing at the overwhelming pain in my left calf, where I was shot a week ago. A week ago! That can't be right. I make myself think harder as I remember the bombs, the screams, oh the screams... Suddenly, my eyes glue to the silhouette of a woman, an easily recognisable woman, my Lizzy! I dash out of the house as fast as possible on my leg, clenching it as I go... but where is she? She just, disappeared... and intently a collage of flashbacks wiz though my brain as I remember the bomb... the screams... the blood. I couldn't save her. I have no reason to celebrate.

Miss Potocki says...

"My act of kindness was on Friday evening when I helped some of the teachers by sending them a video tutorial of how to access some safeguarding training online. Even adults have to keep learning at home you know! Watch out Mr Hurst and Mr Flinn!"

Spitfire themed learning about engineer R.J.Mitchell

Rory has been baking again. It's a good job I don't live with you Rory, I would be huge!

Mrs Roberts replied...

"Yesterday I did my shopping and let a pregnant lady go in front of me, she only had a few items and I had a week's worth of food for my very hungry caterpillars (also known as Miah and Lewis)"

Finally, Mrs McGuire...

"I was cutting my grass and I thought it would be kind to cut my neighbours' grass and her hedge too because she is elderly and has to self-isolate."
